Celebrating 26 Years of Giving

ince 1995, every Meals on Wheels recipient in York and Cumberland counties receives a single, long-stem red rose in celebration of Valentine’s Day. This gift is possible through the kindness and generosity of the late Loraine Merrill. Loraine, a Meals on Wheels recipient herself, supported the delivery of the roses anonymously for years. Since her passing in 2003, SMAA has been able to acknowledge and thank her for her gift.

February 12, 2015 marked the 26th anniversary of the rose deliveries. It is estimated that nearly 20,000 roses have been delivered in the past two and a half decades. On behalf of everyone at SMAA, our volunteers, and our clients, we would like to continue to offer our gratitude and we look forward to many more years of roses!

Some Handy Vaccine Information

Information about the COVID 19 vaccine distribution in Maine continues to be updated almost daily as supply increases and number of vaccine distribution sites expand. While many people are anxious to get their COVID shots, there are still some folks who are nervous about the vaccines and have lots of questions about its safety and after effects.

Here are some facts that might help dispel those worries:

COVID 19 vaccinations are SAFE. Large clinical trials involving thousands of participants were conducted on adults and older adults among diverse population groups. Of the 44 million doses that have been administered, there have been very few severe reactions—about 1 per million. All of these documented reactions have occurred within minutes of the vaccine being administered, so individuals are being monitored for 15+ minutes after they receive the shot at vaccine sites and other locations administering the vaccine to the public. If you are an individual who has had severe allergies to medications in the past, you should contact your physician. Individuals CANNOT get COVID

COVID 19 Vaccine Information

This is a confusing time as plans for vaccine delivery change daily. SMAA continues to work with the Governor’s office and the Maine CDC to maintain the most current and factual information. Maine has limited vaccine supplies. Currently you must be 70 years or older to receive a vaccine. You can find the latest information on COVID-19, including vaccination sites and information on how to schedule an appointment online using the links below.

If you do not have access to a computer, and cannot access the website, please call SMAA at 207-396-6500 and press option one. Vaccine information will be the first option to select when you call that number. If you need information about transportation resources, or need assistance scheduling your appointment, you may leave a message and a Southern Maine Agency on Aging volunteer will return your call as soon as possible. When you leave a message, please include your name, phone number, age, the town you live in, and the type of assistance that would be most helpful to you.

Meals To Go Events Take the Place of Community Cafes During COVID

Meals To Go is a temporary program that we initiated as a result of COVID-19 and the increased need for nutritious meals. It was created with the intention of filling the need that was lost by temporarily suspending our Community Cafes. The “Meals to Go” events are a safe way for older adults in the community to grab delicious and nutritious meals. These events are held across York and Cumberland Counties. New dates and locations are continually being added, so please frequently for the most up to date information.

• Meals to go are available to Maine residents age 60 and older.
• There is a suggested donation amount at each event. That amount varies by location.
• Dates and times vary by each location.
• Reservations are required.
• Registration is required and can be done over the phone at the time of reservation.

Our Supportive & Palliative Care Specialists focus on quality of life from the very start of a patient’s cancer journey.

“It’s humbling to see the strength of the human spirit as patients and families face cancer. I feel privileged to offer them the emotional and other supports they need.”

While our oncologists focus on patients’ best medical outcome, our Supportive & Palliative Care team help them with pain, fatigue, anxiety, nausea, and other symptoms related to cancer or its treatment. They also help with decisions on treatment options and other issues.

Supportive & Palliative Care is available whenever a patient chooses, and is covered by most insurance plans, including Medicare and Medicaid.

Call us at (207) 363-3300 for more information about Supportive & Palliative Care, or our entire range of cancer treatment services.

“To help patients through the challenges of a cancer diagnosis is why I get up in the morning.”

Protect Yourself from COVID-19 Vaccine Scams — What You Need to Know!

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office of Inspector General is alerting the public about fraud schemes related to the novel coronavirus (COVID-19). Scammers are using telemarketing calls, text messages, social media platforms, and door-to-door visits to perpetrate COVID-19-related scams.

Fraudsters are offering COVID-19 tests, HHS grants, and Medicare prescription cards in exchange for personal details, including Medicare information. However, these services are unapproved and illegitimate.

These scammers use the coronavirus pandemic to benefit themselves, and beneficiaries face potential harm. The personal information collected can be used to fraudulently bill federal health care programs. Payments collected can be used to fraudulent services are unapproved and personal details, including Medicare numbers, can be used to steal your health care details or other related scams.

Ignore offers or advertisements for COVID-19 testing or treatments on social media sites. If you make an appointment for a COVID-19 test online, make sure the location is an official testing site.

Do not give your personal or financial information to anyone claiming to offer HHS grants related to COVID-19.

Be aware of scammers pretending to be COVID-19 contact tracers. Legitimate contact tracers will never ask for your Medicare number, financial information, or attempt to set up a COVID-19 test for you and collect payment information for the test.

If you suspect COVID-19 health care fraud, report it immediately online or call 800-HHS-TIPS (800-447-8477).

COVID-19 Vaccine Medicare Fraud Information

Scammers rapidly alter their tactics and adapt their schemes to the changing landscape, and we anticipate that they will leverage the COVID-19 vaccine to prey on unsuspecting Medicare beneficiaries. At this point, it is essential that you are alert of the likely schemes and have information on how you can protect yourself.

- You will likely need to pay anything out of pocket to get the vaccine during this public health emergency.
- You cannot pay to put your name on a list to get the vaccine.
- You cannot get early access to the vaccine.
- No one from Medicare or the Maine CDC will contact you about the vaccine.
- No one from a vaccine distribution site or health care payer, like a private insurance company, will call you asking for your Social Security number or your credit card number or bank account information to sign you up to get the vaccine.
- Beware of providers offering other products, treatments, or medicines to prevent the virus. Check with your health care provider before paying for or receiving any COVID-19-related treatment.
- If you get a call, text, email—or even someone knocking on your door—claiming they can get you early access to the vaccine.

STOP! THAT'S A SCAM!

We all know how important our home is to us, whether it’s an apartment, condo, or single-family home. And this past year has likely made our home feel even more important and special for all of us. It’s our safe place, a place that is filled with memories and memorabilia that we might have taken for granted in the past. As it became more and more unsafe to navigate outside this sanctuary, our home has become more and more important over this past year. Hopefully, as the vaccine becomes more widespread, and more and more people receive it, our world can become a little bigger again.

Our non-profit, volunteer organization, Portland Area Villages, started up several years ago in order to help those over 50 remain active, social, safe and independent in their own homes. But even an organization such as ours has been impacted greatly this past year. We have worked hard to keep our members as safe as possible. We clearly have been unable to provide many of our usual services such as light household chores, running errands or gardening assistance, and transportation was minimal since going out into the greater community was discouraged. We did, however, have a few volunteers who continued to help our members who wished for it, with grocery shopping and transportation to Doctor’s appointments.

Our biggest goal this past year has been to try and keep our members connected to others and to try and help with social isolation. We have continued to check in with them via telephone on a regular basis and are working now to connect them with digital access to programs. We are also working with our members and volunteers to assist as needed in getting their Covid vaccinations. And we hope to be able to provide increased services again very soon.

We would love to hear from you with any questions you might have about our organization, or if you are interested in becoming a member or a volunteer.

Our volunteers undergo background checks and receive training from us. Our members pay an annual fee which covers a portion of our operating expenses. And we do have scholarships to help those who might need it.

You can either call us directly at 207-370-1896, check our website: www.portlandareavillages.org or email us at info@portlandareavillages.org.

We hope you are doing well. Please stay safe and healthy.

Planning Ahead if You Are a Care Partner

The Family Caregiver Support Program Resource Specialists at SMAA speak every day to family care partners helping older adults to remain as independent as possible. In addition to providing resource information, we often engage the care partner in a conversation about future planning. Here are some questions that we ask these care partners to consider when they think about formulating a “Plan B”:

- What will happen if you can no longer assist that person? Who will care for the person if you have a medical emergency, or must recuperate from surgery? Is there another family member or friend who can be called upon in an emergency situation? Has the person done any financial and legal planning for their future? How will the person pay for home care services, or for long term care if they need to be placed in a facility? Do you understand the rules surrounding Long-term Care?

- Are you physically active, and do you take good care of yourself emotionally as well?

- Many family caregivers tell us, “I’m healthy, that will never happen to me.” However, none of us can know with certainty what the future will bring. Studies have shown that family caregivers are actually at greater risk than the general population for all kinds of stress-related illnesses. Have you missed any medical checkups, medications or needed treatment recently because you were too busy taking care of someone else? Are you physically active, and do you take good care of yourself emotionally as well?

- Our Family Caregiver Support Program offers telephone consultations and frequent caregiver support groups and classes to help family care partners take care of themselves, understand the resources which might be available to the older person, and assist in planning for the future.

If you are a care partner to an older adult and would like information, please call SMAA’s Family Caregiver Support Program line at 207-396-6541 or go to https://www.smaaa.org/resources/caregiver.html.
Do you or a loved one need help understanding your options with Medicare? Did you know there are two ways to get your Medicare: Original Medicare and Medicare Advantage? Selenium - This trace mineral plays a role in both cognitive and emotional health. Sources include chicken, pork, eggs, whole grains, tofu and low-fat dairy.

Vitamin B12 and Folate – These B vitamins are both involved in the production of serotonin, a hormone involved in mood stabilization and feelings of well-being. Folate can be found in many fruits and vegetables, while B12 is found in animal proteins. Fortified cereals contain an array of B vitamins including both of these.

Stay active – Physical activity has a well-known mood-boosting effect. Look for fun activities that you can stick to, like walking, gardening, chair yoga, or the increasingly popular Pickleball. Just be sure to check with your doctor before starting a new activity.

A balanced and varied diet filled with delicious and satisfying foods may help lift our spirits and support our overall well-being, but it may not be enough for everyone. Good Food, Good Mood

I t’s almost Spring, which means warmer and sunnier days are coming, right? The slow end to the winter doldrums, coupled with the isolation in an ongoing global pandemic, are leaving many of us feeling more than just bored—we’re lonely, anxious, angry and even depressed. There is little we can do about the weather, but there are things we can do for our mood. Healthy lifestyle choices like adequate sleep, exercise and a healthy diet can nourish the body and mind. Here are some tips that may give you a mood lifting boost.

Don’t get “hangry” – Food makes us feel good. Sometimes it’s that simple. Unhealthy or inadequate dietary patterns can lead to mood swings and grumpiness. Avoid this with regular and balanced meals and snacks. Use My Plate to plan healthy and varied meals with plenty of fruits and vegetables along with whole grains, lean protein and healthy fat. At snack time, pair carbohydrates from fruits, vegetable or whole grains with protein rich foods. For example, apple slices and peanut butter.

Try mood lifting foods – Certain nutrients may be beneficial to our emotional well-being. Here are some foods to consider:

- Omega 3 fatty acids – These heart-healthy fats are associated with lower rates of depression and are being considered as an emerging treatment for a variety of mood disorders. Try incorporating omega-3 rich foods into your day – such as walnuts, flaxseed, or fatty fish like salmon.

Registration required, and join us any time as your schedule allows.

Zoom Tutorials –
Select Mondays 11AM-Noon
New to Zoom? Using Zoom, but looking to build your skills and confidence? Join us for a review of the basics and hands-on practice. Bring your questions!

Techniques for Stress Management –
Mondays 2:30-3:15PM
Join us for a weekly practice as we share strategies and tools for managing life’s challenges. This welcoming group explores a variety of relaxation techniques including breathing exercises, body scans, muscle relaxation, mindfulness, meditation and more. Leaders and styles may vary weekly. We welcome you to share in our practice of cultivating resilience.

Yoga for Healthy Aging –
Wednesdays 11AM-Noon
A “real-world” yoga program with a modified series of poses, which can be done by almost anyone—of any age or ability. We’ll place special emphasis on “bone-safe” yoga, balance, and fall prevention. The class is a combination of seated and standing poses, but all of the poses may be done seated.

Laughter Yoga –
Select Wednesdays 1-2PM
Laughter Yoga is based on scientific evidence that our bodies can’t distinguish the difference between real and “practiced” laughter. Some major benefits include boosting your immune system, reducing stress, elevating your mood, and feeling socially connected. Bring an open mind and the willingness to laugh!

Gentle Exercise –
Thursdays 10:30-11:30AM
This guided exercise program includes a full body routine of movements to gently warm-up your joints, stretch and strengthen your muscles, and practice your balance. The program includes both seated and standing exercises, but a seated option will be demonstrated for all exercises.

Qigong – Thursdays 2-3PM
Qigong, based on the wisdom of traditional Chinese medicine, helps you feel clear, relaxed, and energized through gentle movement, conscious breathing, and meditative visualization. No experience needed.

Fridays 10:30-11:45AM
This welcoming, weekly session will be the bright spot in your week! Join us for a weekly discussion focused on sharing ideas to help each other stay healthy and connected.

Special Events

Intro to Vaccines –
Thursday March 11, 5-6PM
What are vaccines made of and how do they work? As the new COVID-19 vaccines become available to the public, it’s important to stay informed. Join Alexa Pfeiffer, a second-year medical student at UNHCOM, in a discussion about the different kinds of vaccines we get throughout our lives. Learn about vaccine myths and how the new COVID-19 vaccines are unique.

Book Discussion Group:
Making Space for Where We Are –
Thursdays March 18, April 1, April 15, April 29 5-6:15PM
A bi-weekly discussion group based on short readings. Using short stories and poems, each meeting offers a rich opportunity to explore new and different perspectives. Content will include a range of topics, with the intention of providing a safe space to explore the times we’re living in, and how we can respond with compassion and resilience. All reading materials will be provided digitally.

Looking for Tai Chi and A Matter of Balance?

Both Tai Chi and A Matter of Balance are available as virtual programs via Zoom! Classes are coming this spring and you can find listings of SMAA’s programs, as well as other health and wellness promotion programs throughout Maine at Healthy Living for ME. SMAA is pleased to be a new provider with Healthy Living for ME, a Maine network delivering programs to help adults manage chronic health conditions, prevent falls, and foster well-being.

What is Tai Chi for Health and Balance?

This program teaches a gentle Sun-style Tai Chi routine that are safe, easy to learn, and suitable for every fitness level. The ancient discipline of Tai Chi combines agile steps, joint-safe exercise and mental strength to improve mobility, breathing and relaxation in ways that help you feel greater control over your daily life. It is a joint-safe way for people of all ages and abilities to enjoy life and meet new friends while taking control of your physical, emotional, and mental health. Classes meet twice a week for 10 weeks.

April is National Volunteer Month

While the month of April is specifically set aside to honor volunteers serving within our communities, all of us here at Southern Maine Agency on Aging want you to know we celebrate each and every one of you 365 days a year. We sincerely recognize and acknowledge the invaluable service you provide without which we would not be able to meet our mission of empowering older adults, adults with disabilities, and their caregivers in Cumberland and York counties.

We realize this year of COVID-19 imposed restrictions has been difficult and challenging for many of you, however despite these obstacles many of our volunteers have found various ways in which to continue to serve. Some of these most notable achievements include but not limited to:

- Our Medicare volunteers successfully transitioned the way they provide individual health insurance counseling via Zoom or by phone.
- Many of our Money Minders volunteers continue to check in with their clients via phone or contactless pick-up.
- We welcomed new Meals on Wheels volunteers which enabled us to provide uninterrupted meal delivery to those in need.
- Our Agewell program found creative and innovative ways to keep both volunteers and clients engaged by offering Introduction to Zoom classes, weekly coffee hours, and virtual exercise classes.
- We doubled the number of Phone Pal volunteers thereby allowing us to reach more homebound clients with a friendly telephone call.
- Under our new Tech Pal program in collaboration with The National Digital Equity Center we have been able to connect older adults, through the internet, to promote health and wellbeing and combat social isolation.
- Not to mention the on-going efforts of Vet to Vet Maine, AARP Tax-Aide, Mask Distribution, hospice, Volunteer Services and program volunteers, and many more.

We look forward to the day when we can once again meet in-person to truly celebrate all of your accomplishments. However, until that time we wish to THANK YOU and express how GRATEFUL we are for your selfless contributions made on behalf of our Agency, communities, and clients.

Face Masks Available

SMAA is pleased to announce that cloth masks are available FREE for individuals who need them. A “mask distribution” team of volunteers has been trained to process, package, and send out the masks. Please contact referral@smaaa.org if you or someone you know could benefit from a cloth mask.

ties. They are partnering with us to identify communities with older constituents who would benefit from having vaccines available closer to their homes. As this issue of Sr. News goes to print, we have already responded to more than 600 callers.

- SMAA is also collecting names of truly homebound residents in southern Maine who can not leave their homes to get vaccinated. We are sharing this information with our health care partners so in-home vaccinations can be arranged when possible.
- Information about vaccine distribution changes almost daily. You can find the most up-to-date information at maine.gov/covid19/vaccines.

The Legacy of the Valentine Roses

The bitter cold and snow did not prevent our Meals on Wheels volunteers from delivering a little winter cheer to homebound older adults. During the week before Valentine’s Day, along with their meals, all of our 1,100 Meals on Wheels recipients received a long-stemmed red rose to brighten their day. Since 1995, thanks to the generosity of Lorraine Merrill, a long-time SMAA donor, the Valentine’s Day rose delivery has been an SMAA tradition. When Lorraine died in 2003, she left a bequest to the Agency that established an endowment fund assuring the rote tradition will continue in perpetuity. Planned gifts, such as these, enable the Agency to sustain and grow valuable programs that have a profound impact on the lives of seniors in southern Maine. I encourage you to contact Kate Putnam, SMAA’s Chief Advancement Officer, to find out how you can leave a legacy through your will or estate plan. You can reach Kate at (207) 396-6590 or at kputnam@smaaa.org.

Our move to centralize our operations to the Sam L. Cohen Center in Biddeford was completed in early February. Although the majority of our staff are still working from home, a core group of employees are on-site at the new location at 30 Barra Rd. In an abundance of caution, we are still only seeing clients by appointment on an as-needed basis. In the meantime, please do not hesitate to reach out by phone or email if you need assistance, want to sign up for classes and workshops or would like information about becoming involved as a volunteer. You can also check out our website, www.smaaa.org, for calendar information and other Agency news.

Although we are all ready to get back to our normal lives, I urge you to stay safe—keep wearing your masks, maintain social distance and avoid crowded situations. We’ll get through this together and hope to meet in person again soon!

A meal, and so much more.

“One of the largest volunteer networks in southern Maine delivers 600 meals to homebound seniors struggling with hunger. Along with those meals, they deliver dignity and compassion. Please join me in making a gift today for Meals on Wheels so that no senior goes hungry.”

Senior Moment
By Judith Vincent

As Seniors, we are supposed to do all that we can to challenge our brains; to keep them healthy, exercise them like we exercise our body. Learning new things and pushing ourselves out of our comfort zones, all in the name of keeping our brain sharp and reducing the number of "senior moments."

For me, writing a column like this is certainly challenging me and my brain, and that scares me a lot.

I never wanted to leave my home in Massachusetts, but in 2014 I ended an abusive marriage and to escape further harassment from my ex-husband, I sought a new start. So I purchased a home in Maine where I spent many happy summers as a child. I am a true New Englander; I love the northeast, the snow, and the Atlantic Ocean; this was a place of hope for me.

When I first moved here seven years ago, I was dealing with many challenges. I didn't know anyone; my father had just died, I was disabled by chronic pain and no longer able to work, and my friends were no longer around. I was also recovering from a head injury and could barely function. I had to rebuild myself, relearn everything; how to walk, read and drive and think—everything!

Life has gotten much better since I first moved here, but now I am facing new challenges. Not only has the world turned upside down due to a pandemic, but I have turned 65 years old, and I am now an OLD LADY or, more politely, named...a SENIOR.

I have been through many challenges, but with all the hype about aging, I feel like I am becoming Geroscophobic. What is that anyway? Well, plain and simple, it's the fear of growing old. It's a fear of becoming old, sexless, fragile, dependent, sick, a belief that at some moment we will suddenly become someone else, we will become not ourselves, that what we see in the mirror will be frightening, horrifying. And now, at 65, we are called elders, seniors, old, mature, and we don't know if these are respectful labels or insults. Now we are prime for "senior moments." We are just waiting for the next time we lose our keys, forget our zip code, or put the remote in the freezer. And it feels like the pandemic has made seniors keenly aware that our years on this earth are limited. The whole world is aware of its own humanity and what we are made of is fragile and flawed.

Through age, experience and this pandemic, I have learned that we will always be faced with struggles, but we are not limited by the challenges we have faced, the age that we are, or the changes we have weathered. Our ability to adapt and learn is extraordinary at any age. Becoming a senior is an adjustment, a passage, and that's all because getting older does not make you stupid or weak or vulnerable. It makes you wiser. It makes you more of who you are.

Don't delay care. We're here to help you live life to the fullest.

Nan delivering meals and a rose to a Biddeford client. These two have formed a beautiful friendship over the past few months. Most weeks Nan gives our client a hand drawn picture which the client has proudly hung several of them around her apartment. And today our client gave Nan a gift of some butterfly window stickers as a thank you for helping and a Valentine’s Day treat.
